

CALL FOR POSTERS
and
New Investigator Award Entries
in Aging or Life Course Studies

Call for Posters

- We invite faculty, staff, students, postdocs, and all at UW-Madison to submit a poster that pertains to new research in the field of aging or life course studies for the Institute on Aging Annual Colloquium.
- The Colloquium provides information to the public about current research in aging, so posters should be written at a level that is comprehensible to the general public, who are the majority of the attendees.
- The IOA poster printer is available for printing accepted posters at no charge.

New Investigator Award • $500

- All UW-Madison students and advanced trainees (including undergraduates; graduate and medical students; postgraduate trainees; and postdoctoral fellows, trainees, and research associates) who enter a poster can also apply for the $500 award, which recognizes outstanding achievement among new investigators.
- See Award eligibility and rules at: https://aging.wisc.edu/annual-colloquium/

To Apply

- Submit the online application found at:
